18 Defendants.

CASE NO. 08-CV-1392 JLS (NLS)

ORDER: (1) GRANTING PLAINTIFF'S EX PARTE
APPLICATION TO STRIKE ERIN
TOWNS'S DEPOSITION
TESTIMONY AND (2) GRANTING PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE A THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT

(Doc. Nos. 125, 141)

19 Presently before the Court is Plaintiff's motion for leave to file a third amended complaint.
20 (Doc. No. 125; see Doc. No.125-1 (Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend).) Also before the Court are 21 Defendants Collins Financial Services (Collins) and Nelson & Kennard's (N&K) notice of non-22 opposition (Doc. No. 133), Defendant Dell Financial Services' (DFS) opposition (Doc. Nos. 135 23 (Opp'n to Mot. to Amend)), and Plaintiff's reply (Doc. No. 138 (Reply)). Plaintiff has also moved 24 ex parte to strike portions of Erin Towns's deposition errata sheet, which DFS relies upon in 25 opposition to Plaintiff's motion for leave to amend. (Doc. No. 141 (Mem. ISO Mot. to Strike).) DFS
26 opposes Plaintiff's ex parte application. (Doc. No. 150 (Opp'n to Mot. to Strike).) Having reviewed 27 the parties' arguments and the law, the Court GRANTS Plaintiff's ex parte application to strike and 28 GRANTS Plaintiff's motion for leave to amend.

BACKGROUND

On July 31, 2008, Plaintiff filed a complaint against, inter alia, Collins, N&K, and DFS alleging violations of the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA) and California Rosenthal Act, invasion of privacy, and negligence. (Doc. No. 1 (Compl.).) On April 6, 2009, Plaintiff amended his complaint to add class allegations and a claim for violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200 (UCL claim). (Doc. No. 34 (FAC).) Plaintiff amended his complaint again on August 27, 2009 to, inter alia, tether its UCL claim to alleged violations of the FDCPA and Rosenthal Act. (Doc. No. 60 (SAC); see also Doc. No. 58, at 11–12 (dismissing without prejudice Plaintiff’s UCL claim against DFS for failure to state specific provisions of the FDCPA or Rosenthal Act that DFS allegedly violated to trigger UCL).)

More than a year later, on October 4, 2010, Plaintiff filed the present motion for leave to amend to change the proposed class definition, allege additional facts, and add defendants.¹ (See Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 1; see also Doc. No. 137-1 (Proposed TAC).) Plaintiff wishes to allege newly discovered facts regarding DFS’ alleged sale of nonexistent debts to Collins. (Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 3–4; see Proposed TAC ¶¶ 20–22.) Plaintiff also wishes to join as defendants Collins Financial Services USA, Inc. (Collins USA) and Paragon Way, Inc., which Plaintiff claims are alter egos of Collins. (Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 4–5; see Proposed TAC ¶¶ 7–8.) Finally, Plaintiff wishes to amend its class allegations to incorporate newly discovered facts. (See Proposed TAC ¶¶ 35–53.)

DISCUSSION

1. Motion to Strike Portions of Erin Towns’s Errata Sheet

Plaintiff’s motion for leave to amend depends, at least in part, on Ms. Towns’s deposition errata sheet. (See Opp’n to Mot. to Amend 5–6, 13.) Accordingly, the Court first addresses Plaintiff’s motion to strike portions of that errata sheet.

On September 8, 2010, Plaintiff deposed Ms. Towns, DFS’ “senior recovery manager,” in

¹ The most recent scheduling order to address the issue set a January 5, 2009 deadline for motions to join parties and amend the pleadings. (Doc. No. 77, at 1.)

1 Austin, Texas. (Mem. ISO Mot. to Strike 1; see Doc. No. 147-1 (Towns Dep.).)² During the
 2 deposition, Ms. Towns testified that loans DFS sold to Collins consisted entirely of loans originated
 3 by CIT Online Bank (CIT). (E.g., Towns Dep. 56:21–57:2; 84:19–23.) On October 3, 2010—the day
 4 before Plaintiff moved to amend his complaint—Ms. Towns submitted an errata sheet purporting to 5 correct the original deposition transcript. (Doc. No. 147-2 (Errata Sheet).) The changes range from 6 corrections of transcription errors to outright contradictions. (See id.) Relevant here, Ms. Towns
 7 changed her testimony to say that CIT, DFS, and American Investment Bank originated the loans DFS
 8 sold to Collins, rather than just CIT. (Compare, e.g., Towns Dep. 56:19–21 (“[Question:] To your 9 knowledge, were any debts besides those originated by CIT included in this portfolio? [Answer:] My 10 understanding, they were CIT loans.”), with Errata Sheet 1 ([Page/Line:] 56:21 [Change & Reason:]
 11 “To my understanding it consisted of AIB, CIT[,] and DFS loans.”).)

12 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 30(e) allows changes to deposition testimony “in form or 13 substance” if made within thirty days of being notified that the transcript is available and accompanied 14 by a statement of the reasons for making them.³ Although the Rule, by its terms, allows changes “in 15 form or substance,” Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(e)(1)(B), Ninth Circuit authority limits the Rule’s application
 16 to “corrective, and not contradictory, changes,” Hambleton Bros. Lumber Co. v. Balkin Enters., Inc., 17 397 F.3d 1217, 1226 (9th Cir. 2005). “The Rule cannot be interpreted to allow one to alter what was 18 said under oath. If that were the case, one could merely answer the questions with no thought at all 19 then return home and plan artful responses. . . . A deposition is not a take home examination.” Garcia

21 ² The Court’s citations to Plaintiff’s memorandum in support of its application to strike
 22 portions of Ms. Towns’s deposition testimony and the exhibits thereto refer to the unredacted 23 application filed under seal. (See Doc. No. 140 (Plaintiff’s motion to file portions of application under 24 seal); Doc. No. 142 (Order granting Plaintiff’s motion to file portions of application under seal); Doc.
 25 No. 147 (unredacted version of application).) A redacted version of the application is available at 26 docket number 141.

27 ³ Rule 30(e)(1) provides:

28 On request by the deponent or a party before the deposition is completed, the deponent must be allowed 30 days after being notified by the officer that the transcript or recording is available in which: (A) to review the transcript or recording; and (B) if there are changes in the form or substance, to sign a statement listing the changes and the reasons for making them.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(e)(1).

 6 v. Allied Sec. Holdings, 236 F.R.D. 651, 652 (C.D. Cal. 2006).

7 Further, Rule 30(e) requires that any changes to deposition testimony be accompanied by a 8 statement of reasons explaining the changes. Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(e)(1)(B); accord Hambleton Bros., 9 397 F.3d at 1224. Courts insist on strict compliance with Rule 30(e)'s technical requirements,
 10 including the requirement of a statement of reasons. Hambleton Bros., 397 F.3d at 1224–26; Bartos,
 11 2010 WL 1657284, at *5 (collecting cases); Brokaw v. Qualcomm, Inc., 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 12 26519, at *26 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 4, 2003); Holland v. Cedar Creek Mining, 198 F.R.D. 651, 653 (S.D.
 13 W. Va. 2001). Without a statement of reasons, a reviewing court cannot determine “whether the 14 alterations have a legitimate purpose.” Hambleton Bros., 397 F.3d at 1224–25.

15 Having analyzed Ms. Towns's proposed changes, it is apparent that her errata sheet runs afoul
 16 of Rule 30(e)'s procedural and substantive requirements. First, as a procedural matter, the errata sheet
 17 is not accompanied by a statement of reasons explaining the changes.⁴ This alone justifies striking 18 the errata sheet.⁵ See, e.g., Hambleton Bros., 397 F.3d at 1224–26. Second and more troubling is the 19 substance of Ms. Towns's changes. Although some of the changes merely correct typographical errors 20 (see Errata Sheet 1), others directly contradict Ms. Towns's sworn deposition testimony (see Mem.
 21 ISO Mot. to Strike 2–3 (summarizing contradictory changes)). Changing “yes” to “no” and “correct”
 22 to “no not correct” are paradigmatic examples contradiction, rather than correction. Hambleton Bros., 23

24 ⁴ Ms. Towns arguably does explain some of her changes inasmuch as her errata sheet 25 identifies “Typo[s]” in the original transcription. (See Errata Sheet 1.) However, Ms. Towns does not attempt to justify the contradictory changes that Plaintiff and the Court are concerned with here.

26 ⁵ DFS' statement that it “is willing to provide an errata sheet delineating the reason for Ms.
 27 Towns'[s] corrections” is unavailing. (Opp'n to Mot. to Strike 6.) Rule 30(e) required DFS to submit 28 a statement of reasons along with the original errata sheet, and the time for submitting a statement of reasons has since elapsed. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(e)(1) (allowing deponent thirty days to submit corrections); Errata Sheet 2 (dated October 3, 2010); see also Blackthorne v. Posner, 883 F. Supp.
 1443, 1454 n.16 (D. Or. 1995) (excluding untimely errata sheet).

1 397 F.3d at 1226. Contradiction is not a proper use of an errata sheet.

2 DFS' arguments in opposition to Plaintiff's motion to strike are thoroughly unavailing. First,
3 DFS contends that the Court may strike an errata sheet under Hambleton Brothers only if the deponent
4 attempts to use the errata sheet to manufacture a genuine issue of material fact to defeat summary
5 judgment. (Opp'n to Mot. to Strike 3.) Thus, DFS contends, the Court should not strike Ms. Towns's
6 errata sheet because "[n]o dispositive motion is presently on file." (Id.) The Court, however, does
7 not read Hambleton Brothers so narrowly. Courts strike errata sheets in contexts beyond summary
8 judgment. See, e.g., Bartos, 2010 WL 1657284, at *8 (striking errata sheets for all purposes); Wyeth, 9 252 F.R.D. at 295 (precluding use of errata sheet at trial). The Court sees DFS' reliance on Ms.
10 Towns's errata sheet in opposition to Plaintiff's motion for leave to amend as analogous to the use of 11 a contradictory errata sheet to create a factual dispute to defeat summary judgment. (See Opp'n to 12 Mot. to Amend 5 (arguing that "the facts refute" that CIT originated all of the loans DFS sold to 13 Collins and citing Ms. Towns's errata sheet); id. at 13 (arguing that "[t]he accounts sold to Collins 14 included accounts from CIT, AIB, and DFS" and citing Ms. Towns's errata sheet).) Accordingly, the 15 Court agrees with Plaintiff that Hambleton Brothers controls.

16 Second, DFS contends that the Court should not strike Ms. Towns's errata sheet because 17 witness and documentary evidence corroborates Ms. Towns's changes to her deposition testimony.
18 (Opp'n to Mot. to Strike 4–5.) Whether or not DFS is correct, this argument misses the point. DFS 19 chose Ms. Towns as its Rule 30(b)(6) designee and should have prepared her accordingly. (See id.
20 at 2 (noting that DFS designated Ms. Towns to speak to DFS' business relationship with Collins, CIT, 21 and AIB).) DFS produced documents during Ms. Towns's deposition—documents that DFS contends 22 corroborate Ms. Towns's errata sheet changes—that Ms. Towns should have reviewed. (Id. at 5; Doc.
23 No. 150-1 (Ammerman Decl. in Opp'n to Mot. to Strike) Ex. B.) DFS had an opportunity to cross
24 examine Ms. Towns to clear up any inaccuracies. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(c)(1). To allow the proposed 25 changes now would undermine the Rule 30(b)(6) deposition and convert it to a "take home 26 examination." Greenway, 144 F.R.D. at 325.

27 Third, DFS contends that Plaintiff's requested relief—striking the contradictory portions of 28 Ms. Towns's errata sheet—is not necessary because Plaintiff can impeach Ms. Towns using her original deposition testimony. (Opp’n to Mot. to Strike 6.) But the Court does not see why DFS should suffer no penalty for its misuse of Rule 30(e). Contrary to DFS’ apparent suggestion, it will not lose its only bite at the apple if the Court disallows the contradictory portions of Ms. Towns’s errata sheet. DFS may, consistent with the rules of procedure and rules of evidence, present to the trier of fact the changes and additions that DFS seeks to make to Ms. Towns’s testimony through the errata sheet. Further, imposing no remedy at all for DFS’ clearly improper use of an errata sheet would render null Rule 30(e)’s procedural and substantive requirements.

Accordingly, Plaintiff’s motion to strike is GRANTED. The Court STRIKES and deems inadmissible for all further proceedings the following portions of Ms. Towns’s errata sheet: 56:21, 56:23, 57:2, 84:9, 84:13–14, 84:17–18, 84:21, 84:23, and 105:9.

2. Motion for Leave to File a Third Amended Complaint

A. Legal Standard

Leave to amend the complaint should be freely given “when justice so requires.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(2). But while Rule 15 should be interpreted liberally, leave to amend should not be granted automatically. Jackson v. Bank of Haw., 902 F.2d 1385, 1387 (9th Cir. 1990). A trial court may deny leave to amend if permitting an amendment “would prejudice the opposing party, produce an undue delay in the litigation, or result in futility for lack of merit.” Id.

If there is a deadline for amendment set by a scheduling order, and the deadline has passed, an amendment to the pleadings requires that the scheduling order be modified. Coleman v. Quaker Oats Co., 232 F.3d 1271, 1294 (9th Cir. 2000). The scheduling order may be modified by leave of court on a showing of good cause and with the judge’s consent. Fed. R. Civ. P. 16(b)(4).

B. Analysis

Plaintiff’s proposed amendments to the complaint are purportedly the products of information disclosed during recent depositions. (Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 2–5; Doc. No. 125-2 (Weaver Decl. ISO Mot. to Amend) ¶¶ 2–5.) The Court addresses each category of proposed amendments in turn.

(1) Additional Facts

Plaintiff wishes to allege additional facts relating to his recent discovery that CIT Online Bank was the creditor on 85,292 allegedly unpaid accounts that DFS sold to Collins, Plaintiff’s among them.

(Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 1, 3–4; see Proposed TAC ¶¶ 21–22, 36–37.) Plaintiff also wishes to allege facts regarding DFS’ alleged creation of “10,000 American Investment Bank loan agreements that did not actually exist.” (Mem. ISO Mot. to Amend 4; see Proposed TAC ¶ 36.)

DFS, for its part, asserts that “the new allegations are not new information” (Opp’n to Mot. to Amend 3, 11–13) and that it will be unduly prejudiced by an amendment alleging additional facts (id. at 3–4, 9–11). DFS also contends that the allegations in the Proposed TAC are futile. (Id. at 13–19.)

(a) Undue Delay

DFS’ contention that the new allegations are not new information appears to be premised upon the fact that Plaintiff’s FAC dismissed AIB and named CIT as a defendant. (Opp’n to Mot. to Amend 12.) At that time, however, Plaintiff believed that “[Collins’ and N&K’s] naming of the wrong original creditor was an isolated incident that resulted from [their] lack of meaningful involvement in the collection of debts.” (Reply 2.) Until Ms. Towns’s deposition, Plaintiff had no reason to believe that Collins’ and N&K’s naming of the wrong creditor resulted from DFS’ alleged creation of 10,000 AIB accounts that never actually existed. (See Weaver Decl. ISO Mot. to Amend ¶ 5.) Accordingly, DFS’ contention that “Plaintiff has known about the AIB/CIT mix up since at least January 2009” lacks merit. (Opp’n to Mot. to Amend 3.)

Nor is the Court persuaded that Plaintiff’s recent discovery of the subject information resulted from undue delay. DFS contends that Plaintiff delayed in taking Ms. Towns’s deposition “because Plaintiff was in a discovery dispute with Collins and N&K, not with DFS.” (Opp’n to Mot. to Amend 12.) The facts do not bear DFS’ contention out. As Plaintiff’s counsel’s declaration summarizes, Plaintiff’s multiple postponements of DFS’ deposition largely resulted from DFS’ refusals to respond to written discovery.⁶ (See Doc. No. 138-1 (Weaver Decl. ISO Reply) ¶¶ 2–5.) Plaintiff did not act

⁶ In summary, Plaintiff propounded its first set of written discovery on DFS and originally noticed DFS’ deposition in April 2009. (Weaver Decl. ISO Reply ¶¶ 2, 3.) DFS generally refused to respond to written discovery while dispositive motions were pending. (Id. ¶ 2.) Accordingly, Plaintiff had to postpone DFS’ deposition. (Id. ¶ 3.) On November 23, 2009, the Court granted in part and denied in part DFS’ motion to dismiss and denied Defendants’ motions for summary judgment. (Doc. Nos. 89, 90.) Plaintiff then asked DFS to supplement its discovery responses and re-noticed its deposition for late January 2010. (Weaver Decl. ISO Reply ¶ 2.) As of January 14, 2010, DFS had not responded to Plaintiff’s discovery requests, and Plaintiff was again forced to postpone DFS’

1 unreasonably in waiting to conduct DFS' deposition until DFS responded to written discovery.

2 (b) Prejudice

3 DFS also argues that Plaintiff's proposed amendments would prejudice DFS because 4 "Plaintiff's proposed amendments are tantamount to bringing a new class action lawsuit." (Opp'n to 5 Mot. to Amend 9.) The Court disagrees. Plaintiff has long contended that DFS sold inaccurate
6 account information to Collins. (See, e.g., FAC ¶ 24 ("As a result of its failure to process payments
7 properly, Defendants [DFS] and CIT falsely indicated the existence of an alleged debt by Plaintiff,
8 which alleged debt Defendants [DFS] and/or CIT subsequently sold to Defendant Collins . . .").)
9 Plaintiff's proposed amendments simply allege newly discovered facts that explain why DFS sold
10 inaccurate account information to Collins. (See Proposed TAC ¶¶ 20–22, 35–36.) Notably, Plaintiff
11 does not seek to allege any new causes of action. Cf. Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. Rose, 893
12 F.2d 1074, 1079 (9th Cir. 1990) (affirming denial of motion for leave to amend to add claim under 13 Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act). Accordingly, the Court is not convinced that 14 allowing Plaintiff's proposed amendments would "greatly alter[] the nature of the litigation." Id.

15 DFS also notes that Plaintiff's motion for leave to amend "comes on the eve of the discovery 16 cut-off[,], leaving Defendants without the time or allowable written discovery available to inquire into 17 this new case." (Id. at 10.) Courts do not look favorably on motions for leave to amend made at or 18 near the close of discovery. See, e.g., Solomon v. North Am. Life & Cas. Ins. Co., 151 F.3d 1132, 1139
19 (9th Cir. 1998). Here, however, the late hour of Plaintiff's motion for leave to amend does not reflect 20 a lack of diligence on Plaintiff's part. Rather, it was DFS' obstreperousness in discovery that 21 prevented Plaintiff from learning the facts that give rise to his proposed amendments. This fact
22 warrants an exercise of discretion in Plaintiff's favor.⁷

23 (c) Futility of Amendment

24 DFS also argues that the Court should deny Plaintiff leave to amend because the Proposed

25 _____
26 deposition. (Id. ¶ 3 & Ex. 1.) In April 2010, Plaintiff propounded a second set of discovery requests 27 on DFS. (Id. ¶ 4.) After the parties met and conferred, DFS produced documents and supplemented its discovery responses in June 2010 and July 2010, respectively. (Id.) With those documents and responses in hand, Plaintiff re-noticed DFS' deposition for September 2010. (Id. at ¶ 5.)

28 ⁷ Nevertheless, the Court will permit a limited extension of the discovery deadline and pretrial dates to allow the parties to conduct additional discovery on Plaintiff's new allegations.

1 TAC's allegations are futile. (See Opp'n to Mot. to Amend 13–19.) “[A] proposed amendment is 2 futile only if no set of facts can be proved under the amendment to the pleadings that would constitute 3 a valid and sufficient claim or defense.” Miller v. Rykoff-Sexton, Inc., 845 F.2d 209, 214 (9th Cir.
4 1988).

5 First, DFS argues that amendment of Plaintiff's negligence claim would be futile because DFS
6 owed Plaintiff no independent duty of care. (Opp'n to Mot. to Amend 16–17.) At this stage and with 7 limited briefing, the Court is reluctant to hold as a matter of law that DFS owed Plaintiff no duty of 8 care. Plaintiff cites persuasive authority suggesting that DFS, as a creditor, owed Plaintiff, its 9 customer and debtor, “a duty of reasonable care in the handling of his account, which includes the 10 collection of his debt.” Colo. Capital v. Owens, 227 F.R.D. 181, 188 (E.D.N.Y. 2005). Accordingly, 11 the Court cannot conclude that amendment of Plaintiff's negligence claim would be clearly futile.

12 Second, DFS argues that Plaintiff's amended negligence claim would be time-barred. (Opp'n 13 to Mot. to Amend 17–19.) The Court disposed of DFS' statute of limitations defense in ruling on DFS'
14 motion to dismiss Plaintiff's FAC:

15 Based on the facts as Plaintiff alleges them, the first time he reasonably could [have]
16 become aware that his debt had been mismanaged by DFS was when the state
17 collection action was filed against him in 2007. Since Plaintiff filed the instant action 18 in mid-2008, the two[-]year statute of limitations on his negligence claim had yet to 19 run.

20 (Doc. No. 58, at 14.) The same holds true here. (See Proposed TAC ¶ 29.) DFS' argument to the 21 contrary demonstrates remarkable bad faith.

22 DFS also contends that the Proposed TAC's allegations do not relate back to the original
23 complaint. “The relation-back doctrine requires that the amended complaint must (1) rest on the same 24 general set of facts, (2) involve the same injury, and (3) refer to the same instrumentality, as the 25 original complaint.” Norgart v. Upjohn Co., 981 P.2d 79, 96 (Cal. 1999). As discussed above, 26 Plaintiff has long contended that DFS sold inaccurate account information to Collins and that Plaintiff
27 suffered injury from DFS' sale of inaccurate account information. (See FAC ¶ 24.) The Proposed 28 TAC's allegations do not materially differ in this respect. Accordingly, the proposed amendments relate back.

Third, DFS argues that Plaintiff lacks standing to bring a claim under California Business and

1 Professions Code section 17200 (the UCL) because Plaintiff is a resident of Mexico. (Opp’n to Mot.
 2 to Amend 19.) “[S]ection 17200 does not support claims by non-California residents where none of
 3 the alleged misconduct or injuries occurred in California.” Churchill Vill., LLC v. Gen. Elec. Co., 169
 4 F. Supp. 2d 1119, 1126 (N.D. Cal. 2000). Here, Plaintiff’s claim unquestionably has a nexus with 5 California—Plaintiff alleges that (1) his computer was shipped to a California address, (2) DFS
 6 provided Collins with a California address for Plaintiff, (3) Defendants sent letters to Plaintiff at 7 California addresses, (4) N&K filed suit against Plaintiff in California state court, and (5) N&K served 8 process on Plaintiff’s father in California. (Proposed TAC ¶¶ 16, 24, 27, 29, 31.) Plaintiff also 9 proffers evidence that “California was ‘in the top five’ when it came to the number of alleged debtors
 10 in the debt portfolio DFS sold to Collins.” (Weaver Decl. ISO Reply ¶ 8.) Accordingly, the Court 11 is unconvinced that “no set of facts can be proved under the amendment to the pleadings that would 12 constitute a valid and sufficient claim” under the UCL.⁸ Miller, 845 F.2d at 214; see Keilholtz v.
 13 Lennox Hearth Prods. Inc., 268 F.R.D. 330, 339–40 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (applying UCL where nineteen 14 percent of defendant’s sales occurred in California, seventy-six percent of defendant’s products were 15 partially manufactured in California, and three percent of defendant’s products were manufactured 16 exclusively in California).

17 (2) Joinder of Collins USA and Paragon Way

18 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 19 and 20 govern who may be joined as a party. Rule
 19 20(a)(2) allows for the permissive joinder of defendants if “any right to relief is asserted against them 20 jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, 21 occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences” and “any question of law or fact common to all 22 defendants will arise in the action.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 20(a)(2).

23 Plaintiff proposes to join Collins USA and Paragon Way as defendants because newly 25 ⁸ DFS’ cited authorities do not convince the Court otherwise. See Churchill Vill., 169 F. Supp.

 26 2d at 1126–27; Norwest Mortg., Inc. v. Superior Court, 85 Cal. Rptr. 2d 18, 23–25 (Cal. Ct. App.
 27 1999). In Churchill Village, the court held that in-state sales alone did not establish a nexus with 28 California because only ten percent of the defendant’s total sales occurred in California. 169 F. Supp.
 2d at 1127. In Norwest Mortgage, the court held the UCL inapplicable to non-California residents for whom the Defendant’s conduct occurred in states other than California. 85 Cal. Rptr. at 23–25. DFS has given the Court no reason to believe Plaintiff can prove no set of facts that would establish his and the class members’ standing to pursue claims under the UCL.

1 discovered facts suggest that the proposed defendants are alter egos of Collins. (Mem. ISO Mot. to 2 Amend 4–5; Weaver Decl. ISO Mot. to Amend ¶ 5.) Notably, Collins does not oppose the proposed 3 amendment. (Doc. No. 133.) DFS, in a footnote, contends that “the additions of Collins USA and 4 Paragon Way adds nothing to the Complaint. If what Plaintiff alleges is true, that these entities are 5 alter egos of the already existing Defendant Collins . . . , adding these defendants is a sham.” (Opp’n
 6 to Mot. to Amend 13 n.1.)

7 Based upon the facts Plaintiff cites in support of the alleged alter ego relationship and the 8 Proposed TAC’s allegations, the Court finds that Collins USA and Paragon Way can be properly
 9 joined as defendants in this action. (See Weaver Decl. ISO Mot. to Amend ¶ 5 & Ex. C; Proposed 10 TAC ¶¶ 7–9, 13, 15; Fed R. Civ. P. 20(a)(2).) Plaintiff’s claims against Collins USA and Paragon
 11 Way arise from the same series of transactions as its claims against Collins, N&K, and DFS—DFS’
 12 sale of charged off debts to Collins and Collins’ attempt to collect on those debts. (See Compl. ¶¶ 9, 13 13, 15.) Plaintiff’s claims will require the Court to determine whether Defendants’ actions violated
 14 California and federal law. Joinder of Collins USA and Paragon Way is therefore permissible.⁹

15 (3) Class Definitions

16 Finally, DFS argues that “the class definitions in the [Proposed TAC] are incomprehensible, 17 overbroad, and have no nexus whatsoever with the alleged wrongdoing by DFS.” (Opp’n to Mot. to 18 Amend 15.) Class allegations are rarely tested at the pleading stage. Gillibeau v. City of Richmond, 19 417 F.2d 426, 432 (9th Cir. 1969). Rather, Courts test class allegations through a motion for class 20 certification. In re Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. Wage & Hour Litig., 505 F. Supp. 2d 609, 615 (N.D. Cal.
 21 2007). As the Court stated in its order denying DFS’ motion to dismiss Plaintiff’s FAC:

22 District courts must take a “close look” at the claims and evidence to determine the 23 validity of a class certification. A separate hearing to determine class certification thus 24 respects the language of the [Federal Rules of Civil Procedure] and precedents of the 25 Supreme Court and Ninth Circuit, as well as the value of class action litigation.

26 (Doc. No. 58, at 14 (citing Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 615 (1997)) (citation

27 ⁹ The Court also gives great weight to the acquiescence of Collins, which presumably has the 28 most to lose from Collins USA and Paragon Way’s joinder. (See Doc. No. 133.) As to DFS’ unsupported, two-sentence opposition to the proposed defendants’ joinder, the Court can neither conceive of a legitimate reason for DFS to oppose the joinder of Collins USA and Paragon Way nor understand why these companies statuses as Collins’ alter egos renders their joinder a “sham.”

1 omitted).) DFS' challenge to the class definitions in the Proposed TAC is therefore premature. DFS
2 may challenge the class allegations at the class certification stage.

3 CONCLUSION

4 For the reasons stated, Plaintiff's ex parte application to strike Ms. Towns's errata sheet is 5 GRANTED. (Doc. No. 141.) Plaintiff's motion for leave to file a third amended complaint is also 6 GRANTED, and the scheduling order is MODIFIED accordingly. (Doc. No. 125.) Plaintiff shall 7 file his third amended complaint within seven days of the date that this Order is electronically 8 docketed. Within seven days of the date Plaintiff files his amended complaint, the parties SHALL 9 SUBMIT to Judge Stormes a joint motion to extend the pretrial dates to accommodate a limited
10 reopening of discovery to investigate Plaintiff's new allegations.
